

DEFINITIONS

"The work" refers to the official writing and related content for "The Filter Keeps us Safe" or "Topsoil"

The title is subject to change. See the actual work for the official title of a given version

"The license" refers to this document, for a given version of the work

"me, I, etc . . ." refers to the for now anonymous creator under the pen name Blanca Steel who made the work

INTENT BEHIND THE LICENSE

Copyright law has been screwing over small creators and lining the pockets of corporations for too long

This is my attempt to
FLIP the SCRIPT

My inspiration for using copyright law to make things better is of course Cory Doctorow, but I intend to go further by turning this license into a tool of financial liberation for creative individuals and small projects that work with this intellectual property

I want this thing to spread like wild fire, be a lot of fun, and make a lot of money for a lot of QUEER and LEFTIST creators, myself included but not at all limited to me

I want this thing to be a PAIN in the ASS for massive studios trying to screw me over

I want to scare the pedo fash VAMPIRES with all the best boats who aren't going to like this thing ONE BIT

I want to make things GOOD for people like me and BAD for the people and corporations that have been trying to kill us this whole time

I really hope that you take things even further than I did and really make those assholes sweet, but I'm not promising to like or even unofficially endorse anything without seeing it

I'm trying to keep this license SIMPLE, so normal people don't even have to worry about this license when making unofficial works unless that unofficial work really STICKS

I'm also an open source software nerd, so you can probably see some of that in how I'm choosing to go about this

REVENUE

You keep the first $100,000 of annual revenue. You don't even need to tell me about it or do any paperwork

After $100,000 annual revenue, you must pay me 3% of annual revenue earned AFTER the first $100,000 of annual revenue

I specifically chose "revenue" and not "profit" because it keeps entities like massive movie studios from screwing me over through Hollywood accounting

NAMING

You must include "an unofficial Topsoil work" at the end of your title. That way, people can keep track of what I'm making versus what everyone else is making based on my work

You may only claim me as the author for performances that do not alter the text or otherwise transform the work in an unreasonable way

Of course, I mean for the kind of creative liberty that you'd expect for a fun performance given how weird the work already is

You kinda need to make the performance fucked in a fun way because that's what it is, though the written instructions inside of the work itself will get your play box pretty nice and fucked in there without any need to invent new things

That said, you may only use the official work's title for performances that do not significantly alter the original work

If the unofficial work is a significantly altered version of the original work, you must not use a title or authorship attribution which communicates or implies that it is the original work.

OFFICIAL VERSIONS

If you're really interested in making it OFFICIAL, I'll negotiate terms for that on a case by case basis

if one of you does it good enough, I might even give you that Official Title, without changing the deal at all, provided that you don't fuck it up after that in that case

I reserve the right to take that shit right back

COVER ART AND OFFICIAL ARTWORK

Official visual art included in the work may not be reproduced or included in unofficial works without express permission

This includes the official book cover and illustrations

INHERITANCE OF LICENSE

All unofficial works must be released under this license and be distributed or sold with a copy of the license for the version of the work that the unofficial work is based off of

All terms in this license, when included in an unofficial work, still apply to me and the original official work

Unofficial works do not become the new official work for works derived from them

ENDORSEMENT

I do not officially endorse any unofficial work, and all liability goes to the creator of the unofficial work

It would be nice if you told me about your unofficial work so that I can link to your work IF I LIKE IT and generally send people your way

If I DON'T LIKE what you made, all I can do about it is publicly denounce you, as long as you follow this license

If something that I HATE starts making enough money that I get some of it, I'll probably donate it to some kind of leftist charity that the creators of that work won't like

UPDATES TO THIS LICENSE

This license is LOCKED IN PLACE with each version, but I reserve the right to change the license for FUTURE VERSIONS

The reason for this is that I don't want anyone worrying about the license sliding out from under them, but this way I can keep tweaking as needed

If you like what's in a newer version, feel free to UPDATE your unofficial work to that license without telling me

If you need stability, LOCK IN YOUR VERSION so you don't need to worry about anything changing

Of course, the version that you choose is also the version that the license applies to, so you can't, for instance, make a version 1.03 spinoff using a version 0.80 license

PULL REQUESTS

If there is a GitHub repository or similar version control solution in place for the work, pull requests will constitute agreement that you transfer ownership of the content of the PR unconditionally to me

You assholes are now my chat gpt

write some PRs and finish this shit for me!

if I like it enough, of course art, music, etc, etc too

That's it for the license!
